Scope and Content Note

The Brooklyn City Directories and Telephone Directories provide a wealth of information about individuals, businesses, occupations, advertising, and social class status, as well as practical neighborhood information such as street maps, public services, shopping and restaurant guides, maps of rapid transit systems, and more. The earliest city directories list names, addresses, and occupations of Brooklyn residents, while later directories include telephone numbers for individuals and businesses. The “elite” directories list names and addresses of Brooklyn’s wealthiest residents, and some include separate listings for wealthy residents of the town of Flatbush and Long Island.

The following summaries describe each of the six types of directories. Please note that the date ranges are not necessarily continuous; there are some years in which no directories were published. See the Arrangement section and the List by Microfilm Reel Number for information on specific years.
